WHEREAS I purchased a bond given by James M'Connell to Andrew Gatewood, for the conveyance of one hundred and ninety acres of land, and have a deed executed to me by the said M'Connell for the same, which deed was not recorded as the law directs, for want of Mrs. M'Connell relinquishing her right of dower: Now as I am informed that the said M'Connell is offering said land for sale again. I hereby forewarn all persons from purchasing the same, as they cannot expect to obtain it.—I am living on the land.

LEXINGTON, July 16.

Extract of a Letter from Governor ST. CLAIR, to Brig. Gen. SCOTT; dated Fort Washington June 25th, 1791. Sir.

66 I WAS yesterday favored with your communications by your Son, of the 20th inst. which gave me very great pleasure, and I beg you to accept my cordial congratulations upon the success that has attended your operations, which have been conducted to a happy issue under very unfavorable and embarrassing circumstances, with a prudence and vigor that reflects the highest honor upon you sir, and the Officers and Men under your command.—I shall immediately send forward the account to the War Office, to be laid before the President of the United States, to whom it cannot fail to be very acceptable.

"I had great satisfaction in learning, not that the prisoners had been well treated, for I did never doubt but that they would be treated with the humanity that becomes a civilized people, and generally distinguishes a brave one; but that the practice of Scalping the killed had been forborne—that practice was an imitation of the Savages which never did us honor, and what I have always wished to see banished;—The example which has been set upon this occasion by the brave Volunteers of Kentucky, will go a great way towards it should hostilities continue, and be a means of rendering the Savages themselves sensible of our generosity as well as power.—at any rate it is a victory over an established bad custom, which does no harm to our enemies, while it very much injures our own manners."

Late accounts from Post St. Vincennes inform, that Crooked Legs, the Chief of the Ouiatenon tribe, together with 13 warriors arrived at that Post, under pretence of treating, the same day that gen. Scott arrived at their Towns; That a runner was immediately dispatched after them upon the discovery of our Army, but they did not return until our Army had marched several days homeward. Crooked Legs and his party returned to St. Vincennes, and gave information of what had happened. They are very much pleased with the General's treatment to the Prisoners, and have no doubt but that those he retained will be well used; but are lost in astonishment at his not scalping the dead.

An Officer and two privates, who set out from St. Vincennes for Louisville by land, were set upon by a party of Indians on the bank of a large creek; the two privates were killed, but the Officer escaped by jumping into the creek and secreting himself under water, amongst the roots of a tree.

A Treaty, between the United States and the Cherokee and Chickamawga Tribes of Indians has lately taken place, the particulars of which have not yet come to hand.

VOLUNTEERS

ARE wanted for an expedition which will start the twentieth inst. from the Ohio, under command of General Wilkinson, upon the same principles of the late one under General Scott.

The appointment of captains of companies will be made at Lexington the twelfth instant—I give this information in consequence of intelligence received from the board appointed to conduct Military operations in this district. The army will consist of five hundred non-commissioned officers and privates, who are to have 33 days provisions at the rendezvous.

Colonel John Hardin of Nelson county, and Col. James M'Dowell of Fayette, are appointed to command as majors.

Sometime last spring as I was riding along the main road, I found a bag which was branded with one letter only, which bag with the brand on it, I immediately sent to Mr. Sparks's mill, where the owner got it in a very few days.—I have lately understood that some malicious and evil minded persons have reported that I stole said bag, and denied having it when asked which is false. I therefore caution every person from making free with my character in this manner as they shall answer it at their peril.

PHILIP GRIMES.

DESERTED

FROM my company of the 1st Regiment in the service of the United States, Elias Gandy about twenty years of age, five feet nine inches high, fair complexion, broad full face, short light coloured hair, was born in Bedford county, State of Pennsylvania,—having relations living near Lexington, it is presumed he is somewhere in that neighbourhood.

Likewise George M'Dannel, aged twenty years strong bodied, walks erect, and very active at any exercise, the third finger of his left hand has been cut off, and is so remarkable from the great vacancy between the fingers that it may easily lead to a discovery of him, his dialect is broad, and his delivery slow, of a pleasing countenance, but very simple manners, he is by trade a taylor and was born in Newcastle county on the Delaware. They took with them several articles of soldiers cloathing particularly white linen overalls and Russia sheeting jackets with sleeves, and a lapell of scarlet rattinet; also soldiers hats, bound round with white worsted binding, which they will doubtless rip off to prevent a discovery—each of the above Soldiers carried away with him a musquet with the letters U. S. stamped on their respective barrels, together with a part of their accoutrements. It is supposed they will remain for some time in the neighbourhood of Lexington; it is therefore hoped that every good citizen, particularly civil and military officers, will use their endeavours, to have them apprehended, for which a reward of twenty dollars, will be given, or ten dollars for each or either of them, together with all reasonable expences.

JOHN ARMSTRONG,

Capt. 1st. Regt. U. S.

Fort Washington, July 2, 1791.

I Hereby forewarn all persons from taking an assignment on an obligation given by me to Simon Boatman, for a cow, payable the first day of June last, as I have discharged said bond, and which he refuses to deliver up to me
